Quotation Ref: 6895

Dated: 17/10/23

Dear Mr Walker-Cheetham

Thank you for the opportunity to quote for the following work at 59 Mid Street, South Nutfield, Surrey, RH1 4JJ

Alterations or additions to existing Intruder Alarm System installation

All work will be carried out will comply with the previously specified standards unless stated otherwise

Further to your enquiry please find our proposal to change the signaling to the dual signal unit, we would however need you to have installed a network point adjacent to the system control box for this unit to be connected too.

Item no: 1

Remote signalling

BT Redcare Advanced (DP2) IP/GSM – Our dual path solution that utilises one GSM and one IP path to signal an alarm.

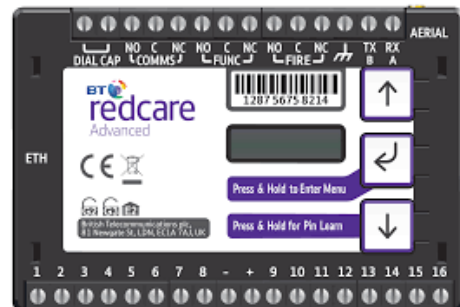

Notification will be by BT Redcare Advanced, located inside the main control panel. This offers “Dual path” communication (one Alarm Transmission System (ATS) with two transmission paths) with the unit being monitored for fault conditions. The device will pass all relevant signals to Southern Monitoring Services LTD, an NSI approved Alarm Receiving Centre.

By default, the user setting the system will be notified if a single path failure exists on the ATS, on the control panel.

Catastrophic failure of the signalling device will be notified to keyholders within 30 minutes of the device failing.

Please note: It is highly recommended to check any signalling requirements with your insurance company to ensure suitability as they may affect your policy. If other grades of signalling are required, we will be happy to suggest suitable alternatives.

One network point will be required adjacent to the control panel unless otherwise agreed. This will require allocation of one IP address with relevant ports opened to allow connection to BT's servers via client's internet connection.
