Dear Sir/Madam

Re: Alleged Noise Nuisance

From: Nutfield Church Primary School, Mid Street, South Nutfield, Redhill, RH1 4JJ

This department has recently received a complaint that noise from your premises has allegedly caused unreasonable annoyance to your neighbours.

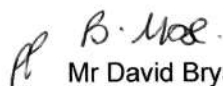

The complaint relates to noise from loud music and, although I am not able to say yet whether the complaint is justified, I would ask you to ensure that neighbours have no further grounds for concern.

If complaints continue, Council staff will investigate and possibly monitor. If the noise is assessed to be causing a Statutory Nuisance, more formal action will be considered. At this stage, however, I am anxious for the matter to be settled amicably and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Neighbours who are affected by a noise nuisance have the right under the provisions of the Environmental Protection Act 1990, to complain directly to the local Magistrates' Court without involving the Council. If convicted, the person responsible for the nuisance is liable to the same scale of fines as when a Council initiates a prosecution.

If you require further information or advice concerning this matter please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours faithfully

Mr David Bryant
Environmental Health Officer
